In 2006 we began to test the products of the company Permanon, in particular the "Boat products" for deep cleaning and maintenance cleaning.

The objective was to reduce the large range of different cleaning products needed, to simplify the cleaning process, to save time and cleaning-material and to protect our boat surfaces.

We discovered that our boats clearly remained cleaner in between washes and that follow-up cleaning became more than 50% easier and faster.

The product costs are low compared to the benefits, so we have decided to use Permanon "Boat products" at the shipyard on new boats to protect them during transport.

We will also recommend Permanon products to our customers, because apart from the obvious optical benefits, there are economic benefits and a clear value conservation is achieved.
